Quo Vadis – South Africa

“With the latest marriage of Jacob Zuma, to a woman he is reported to have already fathered three children with, and the alarming return to ancestral worship with the proposed slaughter of cattle at 2010 World Cup Stadiums under the guise of ‘African tradition’, South Africa has taken a giant step back into the dark ages”. So says Rev Theunis Both, Leader of the Christian Democratic Party (CDP) and acting Chairman of the Christian Democratic Alliance (CDA). “It is these ‘traditions’ that have plagued Africa in the past and that has kept it in superstition and poverty, and not colonialism as some would have us believe. Very little has been done since ‘independence’ in the way of development, with few that do not rely on handouts, especially from the West.

“The freedom, offered by the so called liberators, has become ‘freedom’ as the elite have enriched themselves and adopted extravagant life styles. While the poor have become the ‘poorest of the poor’ “South Africa has, due to failed-governance and power hungry warlords in countries to the north, been swamped by the uncontrolled influx of refugees and illegal immigrants, bringing the most advanced ‘infrastructure’ in Africa ever closer to collapse.”

“It is time that South Africans wake up and realize that with their destiny in the hands of the present government, their future is bleak indeed.

“Africa, and South Africa, need not fail! –

“As far as ancestral worship practices are concerned, it is up to churches to speak out. Political parties doing so, when the churches are silent, are exposing themselves to undue criticism of being anti Black or racist.”

Quo Vadis, SA?

Die jongste huwelik van pres. Jacob Zuma met ‘n vrou by wie hy glo reeds drie kinders verwek het, en die kommerwekkende terugkeer na voorvader-aanbidding soos met die voorgenome rituele slagting van beeste by die 2010 Wêreldbeker-sokkerstadions onder die dekmantel van “tradisie” neem Suid-Afrika met rasse skrede terug na die Donker Eeue, sê ds. Theunis Botha, leier van die Christen-Demokratiese Party (CDP) en waarnemende voorsitter van die Christen-Demokratiese Alliansie (CDA). “Dit is ‘Afrikatradisies’ soos hierdie wat Afrika geteister en in die greep van bygeloof en armoede vasgevang gehou het, en nie kolonialisme soos sommiges beweer nie. Min is nog na onafhanklikwording bereik wat nie danksy aalmoese van veral die Weste bereik is nie.

“Die vryheid wat deur sogenaamde bevryders voorgehou word, het bloot ontaard in ‘n ‘vryheid’ waar die elite hulself verryk het en banale lewensstyle aangeneem het. Intussen het die armes die armstes van die armes geword. Suid-Afrika word danksy mislukte regerings en magsugtiges ten noorde van die landsgrense oorstroom deur onwettige immigrante en vlugtelingen, wat so onmoontlike druk op Afrika se mees gevorderde infrastruktuur plaas.”

“Dit is tyd dat Suid-Afrikaners wakker skrik en besef dat hul, hul toekoms op die spel plaas deur dit aan die huidige regering toe te vertrou.

“Afrika en veral Suid Afrika hoef nie te misluk nie.

“Wat die voorvaderaanbiddingspraktyke betref, moet kerke hul swye opskort. Politieke partye wat hulle hieroor uitspreek, terwyl kerke dawerend swyg, word in die proses maklik en onverdiend as anti swart en rassities getipeer.”
