Attack on CDP leader shows intolerance

The attack on our leader Rev Theunis Botha, after he put out a press statement expressing his opinion on a poster by the DA Youth wing, has been absolutely astounding. Not that he minds because men like him who dare to stand for their Christian values have always been prepared to be ostracized for their convictions. The fact that many of these negative comments contained foul language and are made up of suggestive insinuations, betrays the intellectual capacity of the writers as well as their intolerance of those who do not share their 'enlightened' point-of-view. These people are like mindless zombies that have been impacted by liberal brainwashing that has swept over this nation like a wave-of-swirl.

Never before in the history of this country have more people gone out of their way to prove their moral degeneration and to attack someone else's right to their own opinion. One thing that has become obvious is the hypocrisy of liberals who 'fight' for free speech and then attack anyone who uses that right and who will not toe the line and conform to their, so called, politically correct indoctrination. Their philosophy is "You can say what you like as long as you say what we like." Well our leader for one is not going to succumb to that sort of mind bending pressure.

Although the liberal, secular-humanist, value system or religion has had great affect in the world of late, it will never outlive the tried and tested value system of the Christian Faith. Like all other isms their time will come and go. But, no matter what efforts are made to silence the Christian voice, it will endure forever.

Aanval op CDP-leier toon onverdraagsaamheid

Die aanval op ons leier, ds. Theunis Botha, na hy 'n mediaverklaring uitgereik het waarin hy sy mening oor 'n plakkaat van die DA se jeugvleuel uitgespreek het, is verstommend. Hy word wel nie daardeur beïnvloed nie aangesien mense soos hy wat dit waag om vir hul Christelike beginsels standpunt inneem, gewoon is daaraan om vir hul oortuigings verguis te word. Die feit is dat baie van hierdie negatiewe reaksies vuil taal bevat het, asook suggestiewe insinuasies, en werp 'n bedenklike beeld van die skrywers op, asook die onverdraagsaamheid teenoor mense wat nie hul "verligte" standpunte deel nie. Hulle tree soos willose zombies op wat deur die liberale breinspoeling meegesleur is.

Nog nooit tevore het soveel mense uit hul pad gegaan om hul eie morele agteruitgang so aan die groot klok te hang en ander se reg op 'n eie mening so aan te val nie. Dit is duidelik die liberaliste se belang by die reg op spraakvryheid sluit onder die dekmantel van politieke korrektheid nie mense in wat van hulle verskil nie. Hul redenasie is duidelik: "Jy kan sê wat jy wil solank dit iets is waarvan ons hou. Ons leier gaan beslis nie voor hierdie soort druk swig nie.

Hoewel die liberaal-humanistiese uitkyk wêreldwyd groot invloed het sal dit nooit die waardestelsel van die Christelike geloof oorleef nie. Die Christelike stem sal altyd gehoor word ongeag die pogings om dit uit te doof.
