Again blasphemy by ANC

“Will the blasphemy of the ANC and those who are a part of it never stop?” asks Rev Theunis Botha, leader of the Christian Democratic Party (CDP).

“Malema’s latest attempt to bring a modicum of respectability to himself, by attending a church service, is as far as the CDP is concerned, an affront to Almighty God.

“For Ministers of the African Methodist Episcopal Church to publicly pray for success in his disciplinary hearing, is an indictment against this church. Praying for insulation against discipline for this arrogant communist who does not hesitate to fan racial hatred by insisting on singing the song “Kill the Boer”, and who in the past has allegedly drawn his inspiration from the spirit of the equally radical Peter Mokaba, is nothing less than an attempt to drag religion into the muddy waters of corrupt secular politics.

Weer godslastering deur ANC

“Sal die godslastering van die ANC en diegene wat daarby aanhaak nooit end kry nie?” vra ds. Theunis Botha, leier van die Christen-Demokratiese Party (CDP).

“Malema se jongste poging om hom met ‘n skynsel van fatsoenlikheid te beklee deur ‘n kerkdiens by te woon, is wat die CDP betref ‘n gruwel in die oë van die Here.

“Vir leraars van die African Methodist Episcopal Kerk om in die openbaar te bid vir Malema se sukses in sy dissiplinêre verhoor, is ‘n aanklag teen die kerk. Om vir onaantasbaarheid teen dissipline vir dié arrogante jong kommunist te bid wat nie skroom om rassehaat aan te blaas nie deur aan te dring om die lied, ‘Maak dood die boere’ te sing en wie se mentor die ewe radikale Peter Mokaba was, is niks minder nie as ‘n poging om godsdiens by die troebel water van korrupsie politiek in te sleep.”
