Guard against liberal value system CDP warns

Rev Theunis Botha, leader of the Christian Democratic Party (CDP), reacting to a statement by Tony Leon, that a super opposition, which is the latest gimmick the DA is using to turn South Africa into a two party state, should be based on a single value system; warned South Africans to guard against such a social liberal value system.

“Liberalism propagates the concept of a Free Society and supports secular humanism which is in direct opposition to the Christian value system.

“It is time South Africans, a high percentage of whom profess to support Christian values, wake up and ‘smell the coffee’. Liberalism in countries such as America, Europe and the UK has caused a real crisis of morality, resulting in family structures falling apart and a host of other social evils, some of which have become pandemic.

“The CDP wants to once again point out that the socialist and liberal value systems are just two sides of the same coin and offer nothing but opposition to those supporting a Biblical World View.

“Selling out now will be the same as ‘buying now and paying later’, because pay you will and the ‘interest’ charged will be more than you bargained for,” Botha warned.

Behoede Suid-Afrika van liberale waardestelsel – CDP

Die Christen-Demokratiese Party (CDP) het by monde van sy leier, ds. Theunis Botha op voorstelle van Tony Leon gereageer dat ‘n super opposisie rondom ‘n enkele waardestelsel tot stand moet kom. Botha beskryf dit as die jongste slenter van die DA om Suid-Afrika in ‘n tweepartystelsel te dompel, en het Suid-Afrikaners terselfdertyd teen so ‘n sosiaal-demokratiese stelsel gewaarsku wat lynreg staan teenoor ‘n Christelike waardestelsel.

“Dit is hoog tyd dat Suid-Afrikaners, van wie ‘n groot persentasie aanspraak maak daarop dat hulle Christelike waardes aanhang, wakker geskud word en die rot ruik. Liberalisme het in lande soos die VSA, Europa en Brittanje ‘n werklike moraliteitskrisis geskep, en daartoe gelei dat gesinstrukture ineen gestort het, en ‘n wye spektrum ander maatskaplike probleme pandemiese afmetings aangeneem het.

“Die CDP wys weer eens daarop dat sosialisme en liberalisme verskillende kante van dieselfde munt is, en niks behalwe die teenkanting teen diegene wat Bybelse waardes nastreef, ontlok nie.

“Om nou voor liberale waardes te buig kom bloot neer op ‘koop nou en betaal later’, want betaal sal betaal word en die ‘rente’ is meer as waarop die kieser reken.”
